

1. Create a file named file1 inside B directory using relative path name
2. Create a file named file2 inside D directory using absolute path name
3. Change directory to F directory using absolute path name
4. Change directory back to home directory using relative path name
5. Create a file named file3 inside the F directory and write your name inside that file
6. Show the file permissions of that file only
7. Remove all permissions from file3
8. Copy file3 from F directory to E directory (If error occurs, explain the error)
9. Move the file3 from F directory to home directory with new name “new file” with spaces
10. List the contents of D directory staying in the home directory.